WEATHER IN PHUKET

Phuket is warm in all year round with temperatures ranging between 25 - 34°C (77 - 93°F). Phuket's weather is typically divided into two distinct seasons, dry and rainy, with transitional periods in between. The dry season begins in mid November and usually lasts until end of April. This is the high season for tourism in Phuket, when the climate is at its best, characterized by gentle breezes, calm seas and clear blue skies. The rainy season begins in June and lasts until October.

During May to October, the following contingency plan is compulsory in case of rains:

- ☼ The ceremony will be held in the Beach Restaurant or Lomtalay Restaurant
- ☼ The alternative venue for the reception and dinner will be at The Beach Restaurant. However, dinner arrangement can still take place on the grass lawn using a marquee at an additional charge. Advance confirmation of marquee is required at least one month prior to the event.
